

Reconnecting Target Area Intelligence

DISCUSSION

INTELLIGENCE CENTERS “ONLINE”

Intelligence centers exist throughout the body. Every cell, organ, chakra, and target area has one, as does the physical body as a whole. When a target area is connected to its own intelligence center, as well as that of other organs and of the body itself, we say the target area is “online.” When the target area is less than healthy for whatever reason, it tends to become disconnected from its intelligence center and others in the body. When this occurs, we say the target area is “offline.”

A target area can be online by degrees, which can be expressed in percentages. An area that is completely online would be at 100%, while an area completely offline would be at zero percent. Healthy target areas are usually at least 80% connected to their intelligence center. Areas less than 30% have very little communication with their source of intelligence.

As an area comes back on line, its percentage grows. This growth can be perceived. If you can tune into the process, you can describe its progress by naming the numbers that pop into your mind.

Each case will be unique. An area may come back online in a regular progression in leaps of say 5 or 10%, or one that consists of irregular increments. A progression might proceed this way: 23%, 30%, 48%, 65%, 75%, 81%, 91%, 95%, then fluctuate between 97% and 95% before finally reaching 100%.

Some areas are unable to get beyond 90 or 95% online until they receive more support, nourishment, or simply time.

When an area reaches 100%, this is usually accompanied by a burst of light, as though suddenly a light switch was turned on. Speaking of which, bringing an area back online is like turning a dimmer switch so that more electricity flows to the light bulb, and so it grows brighter. If you’re not able to intuit the numbers increasing, you may be able to perceive the light growing at the target area until it bursts. This would be equivalent to 100%.

HOW IT WORKS

The key to this technique is primarily the Amethyst, although Amethyst cannot do this job by itself. The Lilac Quartz and Clear Topaz play essential roles.

Amethyst has an affinity with the highest aspect of the chakra-, organ-, and system-hierarchies in the body, namely the crown chakra, heart organ, and nervous system, respectively. It also draws forth wisdom in its wearers, and it does this by nourishing and stimulating the intelligence centers.

Lilac Quartz takes this one step further by awakening these centers to their higher purpose. This involves communication and cooperation with all other intelligence centers in the body.

Clear Topaz is also an essential part of the formula because it provides a bridge for the gemstone energies to be received by the tissues.

A principle of gemstone therapy is that gemstone frequencies recognize gemstone frequencies. The two Amethyst gems that you bring together in this technique should come together immediately unless something interferes with them. In this case, it would be the misinformation or unwanted energies that prevent the target area from being online. The action of the movement in this technique and the gems involved, help to clear this interference. If the gems resist, do a White Beryl/Turquoise wand clearing.

OVERVIEW

You can use a Lightning or Spark necklace to find out if the target area intelligence is communicating with your client's higher intelligence and other intelligence centers in her body. You can also reconnect the target area intelligence and determine to what percentage this intelligence is back online.

WHEN TO USE THIS TECHNIQUE

This is a quick, handy technique that can facilitate other target area procedures. Use it often, and whenever possible when working on target areas.

THERAPY TOOLS

One Spark or Lightening necklace.

Figure 1: A Spark and Lightening necklace.

Lightening is comprised of Lilac Quartz, Clear Topaz, and Amethyst. Spark is made of only two sets of these three gems in a base of White Quartz.

Spark is a perfectly adequate tool for this purpose. It focuses on the target area itself. Lightening tends to work more holistically, allowing the target area to reconnect with all other online intelligence centers throughout the body at one time.

SKILLS/KNOWLEDGE REQUIRED

This is a relatively simple technique, easily learned and implemented.

PROCEDURE SYNOPSIS

1. Hold a Spark (or Lightening) necklace at the target area.
2. Bounce the Amethysts against the energy field between the two gems.
3. Touch the Amethysts several times, making a clicking sound.
4. Repeat Steps 2 and 3 at increasing distances from the target area until you get a pull away or let go.

EFFECTS

As the technique progresses, the intelligence center at the target area shifts in a way that can be described as “awakening” to self-recognition. In becoming more aware of itself it also becomes aware of other intelligence centers around the body, and it reaccepts its responsibilities as caretaker of the target area.

When the technique is over, it’s as though a light is switched on. The entire area is brighter and the intelligence center itself seems to shine.

PROCEDURE: For Reconnecting Target Area Intelligence

Hold a Spark (or Lightening) necklace between the fingers of both hands as shown.

1. Position your hands nearby the target area, so that the Amethyst spheres are on either side of it.
2. Gently bounce the Amethysts against a cushion of energy that you may feel between them. The gems will move closer until they eventually touch.
3. Touch the Amethysts together several times, which makes a clicking sound. As you do this, you may tune in to the progress being made and say aloud the numbers that represent the percentage that the target area is online.

Continue to let the gems connect until you get a push away or let go. These are often accompanied by the perception of a burst of light or energy. Any of these signals let you know it's time to stop.

4. Repeat Steps 2 and 3 at various distances away from the target area. In this way you can get the corresponding subtle body counterparts of the target organ back online too.

TIME GUIDELINES

This can technique can be completed within 15 seconds, or it may take as long as a few minutes at one location. In some cases, you may need to do an energy extraction (using the White Beryl/Turquoise wand) before the area can get back online.

24

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

This technique can also be performed at chakra centers. If treating all 7 body chakras at one time, start at the crown and work down. Check what distance from the body you should perform the technique, as it may vary from one chakra to the next. You may also scan the body and treat local areas that require it.

Notes: